Air Chrome Speaker

This octagonal-shaped Air Chrome double cone speaker, circa 1928, is hand-painted. The company hired artists to paint the cones with forest scenes, seacoast scenes, and others.

Air Chrome (Irvington, NJ) also made a much larger version of this speaker that hung on the wall as an object of art. (The Museum has one of those, too!)

We appreciate your support of the museum so that historical artifacts like this one, and the stories that go with them, can be preserved for future generations. THANKS!
