WFBR's Conference Call Program

Harry Striver was station manager for a time. It was Harry who, after he retired, contacted the museum and offered us a treasure trove to station history, including many photos like this one as well as a WFBR microphone with flag, like the RCA Model 44Bs shown here.

We appreciate your support of the museum so that historical photographs like this one, and the stories that go with them, can be preserved for future generations.
THANKS!
